ENTERTAINMENTS.

A charming card party was given Friday evening by Misses Mittie and Junie Elan at their home on West Sixth street, complimentary to their guest, Miss Eloise Marie Jackson, of Birmingham. An interesting game of six handed euchre was played and the ladies' prize, a handsome burnt wood plaque, was captured by Miss Ethel Hatcher, while the gentleman's prize, an elegant pocket-book, was won by Mr. Harry Frierson. The other players then drew for the consolation prize—a pretty Gibson picture, the work of Miss Jackson—which fell to Miss Aileen Moore. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion, the light from numerous waxen tapers flooding the rooms with brilliant light. Mrs. J. P. McGaw, Jr., assisted the hostess in entertaining. During the evening tempting refreshments were served, and the affair throughout was a most enjoyable one.

Miss Eloise Marie Jackson, the attractive guest of the Misses Elan, was the honoree of a charming card party Wednesday evening by Mrs. John P. McGaw, Jr. An interesting game of six handed euchre was indulged in, the highest scores being attained by Miss Minnie Towler and Mr. Richard Smith. During the evening, nice refreshments were served.

Miss Lily Dobbins entertained the camping party chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Meadors, at her home on Sixth street Monday evening, complimentary to Miss Mary Meadors of Nashville. The feature of the evening was an interesting game of cards, and the entertainment throughout was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. M. N. Latham entertained Miss Erskine of Memphis, Miss Mary Dale Craig of Williamsport, Miss Gordon of California, and Miss Boyd of Kentucky, from Saturday until Monday, at her home at Spring Hill. Saturday night quite a number of young people gathered at the hospitable home, and a very happy evening was spent.

Peculiar Armament.

The following is not a joke or a conscious bit of humor. It is a recent order issued by Lord Kitchener, commander of the British forces in South Africa:

The commander-in-chief in South Africa desires to impress officers in command of mobile columns that the object of such columns is mobility, and that he has learned that such forces carry with them furniture, kitchen ranges, pianos and harmoniums, which nullify that object. These articles must be handed over to the nearest stores.

It has been reported by interested parties that we were to leave Columbia. Permit me to state that we are not, nor have we ever even considered such a move. Mrs. Ammerman will be in charge of this office. Patients wanting first-class treatment should see her.

Respectfully,

30-3t-wit W. AMMERMAN.

MILLINERY DISPLAYS.

"McKennon, Anderson & Foster's Millinery Department was thronged all Monday, and their display of autumn millinery is so stylish and varied as to appeal to the tastes of all. The rich autumn shades are blended with beautiful effects in all the fashionable shapes, but we find black and white in combination to still lead as to color.

Mrs. Williamson's Emporium presented an "opening day" in every detail except the name. The display here was exceptionally good, the hats being most stylish and becoming. The handiwork patterns here were in the Gamesborough shape, and the leading colors were combinations of black and white, or brown and white.

OPERA HOUSE.

Next Monday night "A Thoroughbred Trump" will be the attraction at the Opera House. It is a brand new comedy, crisp and up-to-date. The central figure of the piece is T. Rush Thompson, a typical American hobo; with all the quaint wit and manner of this class of wayfarers of road and rail, his many adventures forming the basis of the story of the play. Several novel scenic effects are used in the production, one of them showing a race between a woman on horseback and a fast moving train. The horse gradually loses ground, but reaches the goal and dashes up an embankment a hairbreadth in advance of its pursuer.

DEATH'S HARVEST.

With the Angels.

Robert A. Nichols, aged 7 years, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Nichols, died Tuesday night at 11:15 o'clock, of diphtheria. The funeral services were held at the grave in Rose Hill Cemetery yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock; Rev. W. A. Provine, assisted by Rev. A. P. McFerrin, officiating.

"How unsearchable are the judgments of God, and His ways are past finding out." Independent, manly, bright, winsome and happy, was the little boy who has been called forever away from the home of which he was the idol. That was an unbearable sorrow indeed, if that were the end of all. But called forever from a home on earth, he was called forever to a home in heaven. While the prattle of his baby lips was still chaste and pure; with the sweet innocence of early childhood fresh upon his soul; before his Maker had set him fully free to mix and mingle in a sin-cursed world, he is called back to the paradise of the pure where neither suffering, sorrow, pain nor death can touch him ever again.

That is the blessed assurance—the only and yet the all-sufficient balm of comfort that can bind up broken hearts and wipe away the blinding tears from parental eyes in an awful hour of gloom like this, and give them courage to look up and say, "Inscrutable are thy ways, O God; yet thy will, not mine, be done."

A large number of sympathizing friends were in attendance at the funeral, and the little mound was profusely covered with the choicest of floral offerings.

W. W. Cochran.

Mr. W. W. Cochran died Sunday morning at his home at Culleoka after an illness with typhoid fever. Deceased was a prominent merchant at that place, and was a highly esteemed Christian man. He was a steward in the Methodist church at Culleoka, and lived a consistent life. The burial took place Sunday afternoon at the Wilkes campground with the honors of the Knights of Euthia lodge, of which order he was a member. He leaves to mourn his death a heart-broken wife and one child.

Death of an Infant.

Robert Pillow Shaw, the nine-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaw, died Saturday morning at the home of his parents near the depot. The funeral services will be conducted at the residence Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. J. A. Molloy, and the burial was in Rose Hill cemetery. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of everyone.

Mrs. Octa Sellers Watson.

Mrs. Octa Sellers Watson, wife of Emmet H. Watson, died Friday at her home at West Point, aged twenty-three years. The funeral services were conducted Saturday at West Point Church, and the burial was in the graveyard at that place. A husband and one child survive her.
